Dr. Brumfield Explains
2 New Social Hygiene
Bills Before Legislature

One Bill Requires Pre-Marital Medical Examination, the
Other Tests for Syphilis for Pregnant Women.

MANY ATTEND
Regional Conference at Y. M. C.
A. Proves of Great Interest
Last Night.

Dr. W. A. Brumfield, Jr., director of the division of syphilis control of the New York State Health Department, called the attention of his audience at the regional conference on social hygiene held in the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening to two bills that have been introduced in the state legislature.

One bill requires that applicants for a marriage license must also undergo a medical examination from a physician before the license is issued, while the other bill makes compulsory for every woman who is pregnant to undergo a test for syphilis.

At the close of Dr. Brumfield's address the audience adopted resolutions approving both bills he had mentioned and the resolutions will be forwarded to the county's representatives in the state legislature.

The regional conference was held in the remodeled auxiliary gym at the Y. M. C. A. which has replaced the former auditorium which had not been used for years.

The attendance was so large that it was necessary to bring in a number of additional chairs so that none would be forced to stand during the meeting.

Judge Joseph M. Fowler presided and the greetings of the city to the conference were delivered by President John J. Stewick, who spoke in the place of Mayor C. J. Heiselman, who is ill.

"Challenge of Youth"
The principal speaker of the evening was Dr. Brumfield, Jr., and his topic was "The Challenge of Youth to Modern Society" and in an address from which all medical terms were omitted and in language that could be understood by the layman Dr. Brumfield told of the vast toll in human life from the attacks of this dread disease.

He told of the various symptoms and how the disease first made its appearance in the form of a small ulcer or sore on the body of the victim. When youth was afflicted with the disease unless treatment was given the second manifestation of the disease would occur some 20 years later when the youth would be overtaken by the disease stricken down in his most productive years.

Fortunately the disease could be treated and its spread prevented and this was the work the state was now engaged in and to assist in the work the campaign of publicity had been launched.

Dr. Galvin Speaks
Dr. Eugene F. Galvin, president of the Ulster County Medical Society, said that the country was now waging a war against syphilis and the war would not cease until the disease was stamped out. Ten years ago he said, if a man had been advised to meet and discuss syphilis all who attended the meeting would have been landed in jail. Fortunately times had changed and education had made it possible to hold such a meeting as was being held that night. It was not so many years ago either, he said, when tuberculosis was a disease that had to be spoken of under the breath. Public education followed in the case of tuberculosis and public education is the goal in sight in the present campaign to stamp out syphilis.

Mrs. Hubert Brink, health leader of the Home Bureau, Lake Katrine unit, called attention to the pneumonia control meetings that had been held by the Home Bureau in the county recently, and she believed that a similar campaign of education should be carried out in social hygiene. It was only by education that necessary accomplishments were achieved.

Henry Dunbar, vocation guidance teacher in the Kingston High School, was of the opinion that a formal program of social hygiene and sex education should be taught in the high schools. He said that it was a debatable question in which many others believed it should be done. He said he was glad to see a number of the high school students in the audience. He said he was simply raising the question if the time was ripe for such a program of education in the high schools.

The last speaker of the evening was the Rev. Henry E. Herdgen, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Church, who said:

Father Herdgen spoke as follows: Our learned and distinguished associates, heard in this evening's program, have furnished us with invaluable information and much food for thought. We, who are members of the cloth,

Governor to Hold
Brown Clemency
Hearing on Feb. 16

Albany, Feb. 3 (Special).—A hearing for executive clemency will be granted by Governor Lehman on Wednesday, February 16, at 2 p. m., for Charles James Brown, negro handyman and fish-market employee at Ellenville, whose conviction for the first degree murder of Isadore Handelman, also of Ellenville, was recently upheld by the Court of Appeals.

Brown was convicted last June in Ulster county for the murder of 70-year-old Isadore Handelman, and was sentenced to be electrocuted during the week beginning August 1. Execution of the judgment, however, was stayed temporarily, pending outcome of the convicted man's appeal to the Court of Appeals.

Handelman and his wife were found dead in a bedroom of their home in Ellenville on last April 7, after a fire which caused considerable property damage. Both were badly burned.

Brown was tried only for the death of Mr. Handelman, who was found to have been attacked before death. Brown was charged with knocking his victim over the head with a pinion gear, robbery being the alleged motive.

Eight days after the crime, Brown surrendered at the Orange county welfare home at Goshen. He made a confession there which he later sought to repudiate, maintaining it was obtained under duress.

The clemency hearing will be conducted in the Executive Chamber at the capitol, the governor announced.

7 Men Killed, 7 Lost
As 2 Bombers Crash
In Squall Over Pacific

Tragedy Occurs Off Southern California During Manuevers, Admiral Bloch Wins Associated Press Early Today.

FOUR MEN RESCUED
One Bomber, 11-P3, Falls in Flames, While Other, 11-P4,
Cracks Up on Water.

San Pedro, Calif., Feb. 3 (AP).—Two navy patrol bombers, flying through a sudden rain squall, collided within sight of the maneuvering United States fleet, off the southern California coast last night, killing at least seven of the 14 crewmen.

Admiral Claude C. Bloch radioed the Associated Press early today that one bomber, the 11-P3, fell in flames, the other, the 11-P4, cracked up when it struck the sea.

Four of the 11-P4's seven-man crew were rescued by a boat from the fleet flagship, Pennsylvania, transferred to the U. S. S. Tennessee and rushed to the hospital ship Relief, lying in Pyramid Cove at San Clemente Island.

All seven of the flame-enveloped 11-P3's crew were believed certain to have perished.

Search for three possible survivors from the 11-P3 was begun immediately by surface craft, several battleships and 20 destroyers, all of which witnessed the tragedy.

Avianes were to be dispatched in the search at dawn.

Missing Men
The ten missing men, listed by the navy simply as "unaccounted for," were:

11-P3—Lieut. Elmer Glenn Cooper, commanding officer; aviation cadet Edwin John Koch, second pilot; Joe Earl Walton, aviation mechanic; master second class, Maurice Villanueva, aviation chief machinist; George O'Brien Griffin, aviation machinist; mate first class; Julian Rawls, radioman first class; William Paul Landgreve, aviation machinist; mate second class.

11-P4—Lieut. Carleton Barmore Hutchins, commanding officer; John Gregory Neidzwecky, aviation machinist; mate first class; Marion William Woodruff, aviation chief machinist; mate.

Of the four rescued men, J. H. Hester, radioman first class, was not expected to live because of critical injuries.

D. C. McKay, aviation chief machinist, suffered a broken leg. V. O. Hatfield, aviation chief machinist, mate, also sustained a broken leg and cuts. L. S. Carpenter, aviation machinist, mate second class, had a broken arm.

San Diego Residents
The four all resided in San Diego. Their escape in the shattering plunge of the 11-P4 was almost miraculous. Giant searchlights from the warships spotted them in the water and they were quickly picked up by one of the small boats which sped to the scene.

The collision occurred at 8:37 o'clock (11:37 p. m., E. S. T.) last night, directly south of San Clemente Island as the full might of the United States fleet went through swift tactical exercises under simulated conditions of war.

A "radio silence" imposed upon the fleet was broken to send news of the accident.

The planes were of the same type as those which have made many long distance mass flights without accident. The latest exploit was January 19, when 18 of the big flying boats flew 2,570 miles from San Diego to Honolulu in 26 hours and 30 minutes. They gathered in formation for the record-breaking flight over Point Loma.

The two planes had taken off yesterday morning from the air base at San Diego to join the war game.

It was the third major American naval plane disaster of the year and the second disastrous naval crash off Southern California within a month. Twenty-four men were lost in the three crashes.

Two Delegates Tossed Out of Spacious Auditorium—Unusual
Calm Smooths Disorder
As Pictures Are Posed.

NOISY CHAOS

"Forgotten Man" One of Ejected
Pair, But He Gets Escort
to Outdoors.

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP).—The administration's "little business" conference adjourned in an uproar today, after voting a program of economic advice to President Roosevelt.

Two delegates forcibly were tossed out of Secretary Roper's spacious commerce department auditorium, in a vain effort to quell a feverish tumult, before Chairman Fred Roth, Cleveland, Ohio, pounded the gavel the last time.

Despite shouted protests, the conference adopted reports of nine committees which recommended, among other things, that the government supply financial and stimulating private credit.

An unusual calm smoothed the disorderly confusion immediately after adjournment. Businessmen who had been talking and shouting a moment before sat back in their chairs to pose for photographers.

Both of those ejected a few moments earlier had wanted to address the conference before it closed.

A. S. Shafer of Philadelphia was removed from the scene for the second time. Commerce department guards led him out of yesterday's meeting. The business men almost tore his trousers off while tossing him out themselves today.

Forgotten Men
Robert Kemper, who termed himself the forgotten man of New York, was thrown out by a squad of plainclothes policemen after he too became involved in an argument over demands that he be heard.

The uproar attendant on the two ejections threw the wheel meeting into a noisy chaos with most of the 1,000 present jamming the aisles, standing on chairs, and yelling for order. Cries of "throw him out" were directed at both Kemper and Shafer.

In the midst of this racket and confusion cries of "adjournment" caught the attention of Chairman Fred Roth of Cleveland, O. He caught the question and an echoing "yes" ended the confusion.

After Shafer had been removed from the auditorium, Charles P. Hiltom, executive vice president of the Wearing Apparel Board of Trade of Pennsylvania, fought his way to the platform shouting at the top of his voice:

"This man does not represent Philadelphia business men."

Shafer Wore Sign
Shafer, who wore a sign saying "we want a Roosevelt chairman not a Hoover chairman," was only pitched out of the auditorium, but Kemper was accompanied to the sidewalk outside the columned commerce department building.

New disruptions in the program scheduled for the meeting of industry's "little fellows" opened the second day's session of the 1,999 called together by Secretary Roper to assemble their collective business advice for the administration.

The printed program of the meeting listed for 2:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) today. This meeting was postponed until 11 a. m. tomorrow after a White House aide said the President was so "overloaded" with paper work and mail that he decided to remain in the White House residential study today and would make no engagements.

A few minutes earlier the little businessmen had gathered in the commerce department's auditorium, to hear Chairman Fred Roth of Cleveland plead that they conduct themselves "as businessmen" and not all talk at once.

Rip Van Winkle Dance
Rip Van Winkle Triangles will hold its semi-annual dance at Huling's Barn on Friday, February 11. Refreshments will be served at midnight. The committee on arrangements has made plans for an evening of unusual entertainment. Tickets may be secured from Eisle Buchman phone 2576. Virginia Hoffman, 250, Edna Healy 462 or from any member of the club.

Justice McReynolds 76
Washington, Feb. 3 (AP).—Justice James Clark McReynolds, one of the two Supreme Court members who the administration regards as "conservative," was 76 years old today. Except for years old today, McReynolds said, the anniversary passed unnoticed.

Anti-Syphilis Talk Heard by Rotary

The national effort to eradicate syphilis by a vigorous educational campaign was further explained to members and guests of the Kingston Rotary Club in the Governor Clinton yesterday noon when Dr. James H. Lade of the New York Department of Health spoke to the group regarding this disease and the steps which are being taken to blot it out as a social menace.

Dr. Lade explained that the cause and cure of syphilis has long been veiled in mystery for the disease was not supposed to be associated with average people. This action has finally been broken down and people today look upon syphilis as something to be conquered by treatment rather than hushed fears. Modern medicine has found the cure for syphilis in its early stages and the present wide spread publicity concerning the disease is being undertaken as a means of educating people as to its cause and cure.

The speaker said that many people were fearful that syphilis could be contracted from drinking cups, eating utensils, etc., that had come in contact with an infected person. He explained that this was a rare occurrence because of the germ's susceptibility to sunlight and dryness. For the most part, syphilis is inherent or contracted through bodily contact and tests under the supervision of competent laboratories can determine immediately whether or not a person harbors the disease.

Saying that past ignorance and prudery had done much to further the menace of syphilis, Dr. Lade continued his talk by informing his listeners that past laxity had put today's effort to halt the menace of syphilis in the category of paying for the horse after it had left the stall. For government has to pay for syphilis-little people by maintaining institutions for their care and treatment. Many of the people housed in insane asylums and hospitals today are there because they lacked the knowledge of their illness and allowed the disease to go beyond its primary stages. Proper education and understanding of syphilis could have checked this unfortunate condition.

Steps to prevent the spread of syphilis have been thrown into the open during the past year through an active campaign to lift the cloak of secrecy surrounding the disease. People have come to learn that syphilis is a social menace that can be wiped out through the preventative of proper knowledge with which to combat its ravages.

Alfred Harder, chairman of the program committee, introduced the speaker, and Dr. Harry Chant, health officer, was also in attendance at the meeting. Following Dr. Lade's short address, members of the club asked the speaker several questions regarding his subject.

SMALL BUSINESS MEN ALL WANT TO TALK

Hundreds of the nation's "small business men," gathered in Washington, D. C. for a conference at the President's invitation, created a din as the more vocal among them competed for attention. Here are several advancing to the speaker's stand in an effort to make themselves heard above the clamor and obtain recognition.

He Stakes $2,500 a Week on His Knowledge of Tobacco...

Robert W. Barnes
—Independent Buyer—
one of many tobacco experts who smoke Luckies

"I OFTEN invest $2500 a week in tobacco—$2500 of my own hard-earned cash," says Mr. Barnes. "So you can see that the only way I've stayed in business 10 years is to know tobacco. "Now I know Lucky Strike tobacco and it's top-grade. That's why I've smoked Luckies for eight years now."

"Lots of other independent buyers, auctioneers, and warehousemen I know smoke Luckies for the same reason."

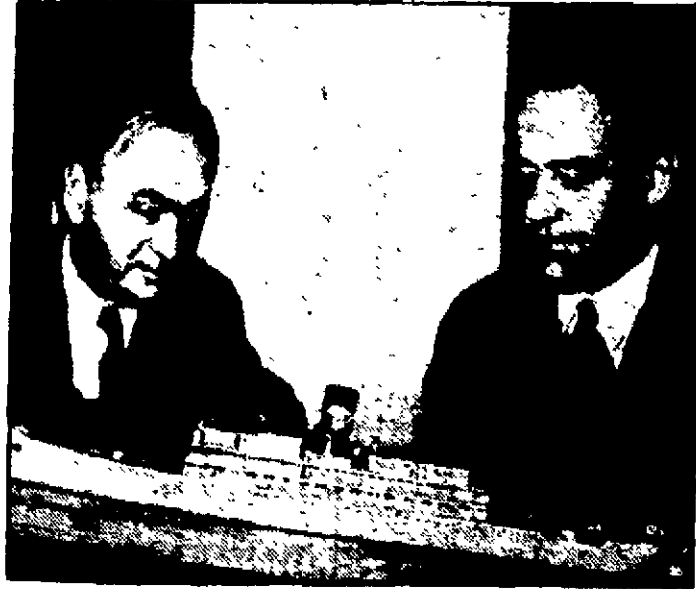

Yes, sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts like Mr. Barnes, Luckies have over twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.

Sworn Records Show That...
WITH MEN WHO KNOW TOBACCO
BEST-IT'S LUCKIES 2 TO 1

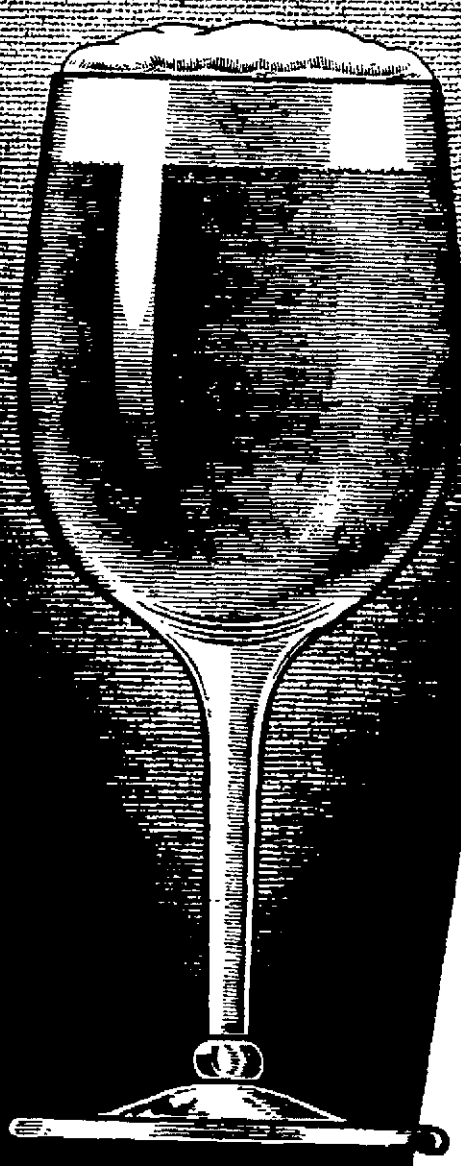

HAVE YOU HEARD "THE CHAMP OF THE TOBACCO BUSINESS" ON THE RADIO? When you do, remember that Luckies are the most famous. And also that the "Tobacco" Press removes certain hard bitten facts in all tobacco. So Luckies are tried to your throat.

IMMIGRANT BOY MAKES GOOD

Samuel Zemurray, 51, (left) who began to earn his way as an immigrant boy selling bananas in Mobile, Ala., now heads the giant United Fruit Company. With him, examining a model of a new type of freighter, is T. Jefferson Coolidge, chairman of the company's board of directors.

In every glass... Purity, Body, Flavor

It's a toss-up which quality is most important—Purity, Body or Flavor. Settle the argument the logical way—order Ballantine's Ale or Beer, and in every glass you'll get all three. Duplicate Peter Ballantine's original 3-fold test of his brew. He took one drink to judge PURITY... a second for BODY... a third for FLAVOR. On the table, left by the moisture of his glass, he found his trademark—you'll find the same. It always pays to say, "MAKE MINE BALLANTINE'S!" On draught... in bottles (12 oz. and full quart)... in copper-colored cans (12 oz. and full quart)... America's finest since 1840.

RELIEF FOR ALIENS

A bill in one of the midwestern states denying relief to un-naturalized immigrants, and vetoed by the governor after a hot argument, was plainly opposed to public sentiment. Newspapers inviting popular comment received far more letters against it than
for it, and there seemed to be more of them from old Americans than from resident aliens. Here are some interesting ones:

If we believe that charity begins
at home, then let's remember that America is our home.
Thousands of these foreigners
were enticed here when labor was scarce, then deprived of a living.
Deportation will not cure our troubles. Work and wages will.

We are quick to criticize other countries in their treatment of minority groups. We should practice what we preach.

Is it right to let a man starve
to death just because he wasn't born in this country?

Aliens have helped build our nation. They have produced for us in the factories, fields and mines. The aliens have done the dirty work, giving the born American a chance to wear a white collar.

We owe all aliens one. Let's treat all alike—deport everybody
and restore the country to its native owners, the Indians.

A TOWN IN DEBT

There are financial troubles in Atlantic City which make other cities feel very prosperous and solvent. The city's debt is reported as "exactly nine times as great as the average for all cities
in the United States of 50,000 to 100,000 population." A local survey commission is at work digging out all the harrowing facts
for the enlightenment of taxpayers.

This same debt is said to be "almost five times the national average per capita," and "the ratio of the over-all debt to estimated true property valuations is well over three times the average for cities of this size."

It is pretty tough, and it is easy to see why taxpaying groups are trying to prevent all increases in city and county expenses for the current year. Other cities should take to heart the obvious lesson
that conventions, bathing beauty
pageants, a fine climate don't make a town well off unless its civic affairs are efficiently managed.

ENOUGH FOOD

The New York Charity Organization Society announced the other day that it was increasing its food grants four and one-half per cent. A national study of the dietary needs of children had made it plain that the families on charity were not getting enough of the right kinds of food. Even with the best possible management of the weekly food allowance the menu would be inadequate.

The increase, however, does not seem very impressive when it is found that, on the new scale, a family of five will have only $8.55 a week for food. It is clear that there still cannot be a full allowance of milk, eggs and fresh vegetables on such a budget.

Another authority, discussing the same problem, says that an $8-a-week food allowance is inadequate for the family of four.
This does not mean, of course,
that life cannot be sustained on $8. It means that the family will have to go without the foods that build health, strength, energy and resistance to disease.

AMATEUR STATESMANSHIP

There may be quite a bit of argument over H. G. Wells' characterization of Franklin Roosevelt, whom he has observed a good deal and visited several times. "He seems to me," says
the English author, "to belong to the type of Lord Balfour, Lord

Grey of Falloden and Justice
Holmes—great independent figures, personally charming, Olympians detached from most of the urgencies of life, dealing in a large, leisurely fashion with human stresses. The quality
their statesmanship has in common is its dignified amateurishness."

There is a good chance for partisan argument about that word "amateurishness." It has two meanings. The first definition of "amateur," more common in England, is "one who cultivates any art or pursuit for the love or enjoyment of it, instead of professionally or for gain." The second meaning, more common in America suggests "crudeness or other faults."

With the late Justice Holmes
nearly all of us are acquainted.
Mr. Wells' list of amateur "Olympians" will start many Americans to looking up Lord
Balfour and Earl Grey. Perhaps
"Olympian" too. The expression
"human stresses" is suggestive.
The work of government comes to be more and more a matter of political engineering to relieve social stresses and strains.

That Body
of Hours

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

There was a time when an operation—usually the removal of the appendix—was a favorite,
if not the favorite, topic of conversation among middle-aged men and women. Today, if it is not about the heart—angina, coronary
thrombosis, leaking valves—

it is about the blood pressure.
What is blood pressure?

Blood pressure is the pressure
made against the walls of the blood vessels as it circulates
throughout the body. The physician measures this pressure
against a column of mercury—

just as we read the pressure of the atmosphere on the barometer.
Now the average individual has learned that if this pressure of the blood is too great against the blood vessel wall it may break
through the wall and cause bleeding—hemorrhage—which bleeding will cause damage in the brain, heart, or elsewhere according to where it occurs.

The average individual also thinks that it is because the walls of the blood vessels have lost their elastic tissue—hardening of the arteries—that the pressure becomes so high, and this is often true. However if the individual is excited or upset at the time of, or because of,
the examination, or has just
eaten a heavy meal, his blood pressure may be up as high as twenty to thirty points. A little quiet, assuring chat by the physician will often bring the pressure down to normal within a few minutes.

Sometimes, of course, the pressure has to be taken a number of times; in the morning before breakfast is a favorable time.

Even when the blood pressure
is "always" high, if the individual goes about his regular affairs or duties in life with ordinary care
—no heavy work, light meals,
even if more meals are eaten, acquiring calmness or peace—he may never have the slightest symptom of high blood pressure
and live just as long as if his blood pressure had been normal.

Dr. David Riesman, Philadelphia, in Annals of Internal Medicine, makes this statement: "An individual can live to be 80 to even 100 years with high systolic (blood being forced against vessel walls) blood pressure."

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: Carrying a gun-carriage for Ralph Mantuan, we find Sumanang Island seething
with a revolt of savage Dyak tribes against the Malays. Christine Forrester, a young English
girl, is supplying the Dyak guns,
but Mantuan accuses my uncle,
James Clyde. While Clyde is held as hostage, I (Paul Thorne)
am to bring our fortified trading vessel, the Linkang, up-river to aid the Malays. Then Christine tells me her father started this war, the Dyaks are sharpshooters, and not even the Linkang
can live an hour in the river.

Chapter 15

Worship Of The Gun

OVER there through the heat waves, the whole coast was pulsing with the excitement of Dyak drums and agongs.

"Please explain to me now that there's a war on shore," I said.
Christine ignored this. "If you don't believe me, you and your men will be cut to pieces before you have got into the Siderong river a mile."

"You may as well remember
this," I told her. "James Clyde doesn't live by luck. His life is never dependent upon the kindness of the natives sometimes show to innocent old fustidlers. The tribes probably thought your father was a coconut head, and no doubt it saved his life. But if you're going to tell me how Clyde ought to fight
a river you're wasting your time,
and mine too."

Some color came into her face
then. "You are very glib, for an ignorant man. But you're going to have to forget that you thought my father was a fool. What I'm trying to tell you is that the rifles we've put into the jungles are in the hands of sharpshooters, and they are sharpshooters that my father made."

I remembered a bullet that had come a good 400 yards to miss Gordon, a whisper, but I could not believe her. In the dark reaches of the Siderong I had felt that something strange was going on,
and that this girl knew what it was.
But here in bright noon on my own deck I was simply impatient, and angrily worried.

Seen in broad sunlight, Christine Forrester seemed more nearly an ordinary human—a girl in skirts
and a silk shirt slapped against her body by the heat and the sluggish wind. Daylight was kind to her, in spite of her fatigue. She had dark eyes and a wide, impactful mouth, and there were freckles across her nose, showing
through the deep-seated, practical comes from water-reflected sunlight. I liked all this, but none of it made her mysterious. To imply that she knew more about what was going on in the jungle than I did seemed nonsense.

She said, "You don't understand
this because you don't know Sumanang—you don't bother to know it." A flare of spirit came into her voice, offsetting her fatigue. "An African from Senegabia and a Dyak from the Tomarrup
are the same thing to you. You say that we don't know our business. I tell you that you don't know yours.
You begin to see. You don't know
the least of your working materials. How many island languages
do you speak, Mr. Thorne? One?
She turned on me. "Let me hear you say 'elephant' in Malay," she commanded.

"Hathi," I said.
"You see? You brought a corrupted word out of India, hardly known even there. I will say 'elephant' for you: gapi in Singapore, opah in Kanyan, calowit in Tomarup, ehlan in Palowit. Want some more?"

"God forbid!"
The drawing down of her mouth
matched the contempt in her voice.
"You've made it your sole business
to swindle ignorant islanders out of their things—and how you bungled
it! How do you expect to cheat them skillfully, when you can't even understand what they say?"

Secret Society

I WAS silent for the moment and
she took advantage of this, running ahead with her quick, nervous speech. She said, "I'll tell you exactly how these sharpshooters
were made."

It seemed that seven years ago
her father had lived for six months
with a small tribe of hill Dyaks, up at the headwaters of the Tomar-rup. Forrester knew Dyaks; he knew their priestesses didn't know.
And he was able to bring them the white man's semi-magical gifts.
Somehow he managed to form a little secret society, admitting 10 chiefs and sons of chiefs. Upon these he brought to bear everything he knew about their religion—all to a single purpose. And the thing he centered his society upon was a single gun.

"They surely must have seen
guns before," I said brusquely.
"They had never seen a gun like this. My father could knock the eye out of a calao at 200 yards with this piece. What the Dyaks learned

ANCHORS AWEIGH!

Historic Churches of Ulster

(In conjunction with the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival, May 6, 7, 8.)

New Paltz Reformed Church

The Reformed Dutch Church of New Paltz, which celebrated its 250th anniversary in 1933, is one of the historic churches of Ulster
county which is participating in the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival Church Day which will be observed on May 8. Under the guidance of the Rev. Gerrit J.
Wulfschlegel, the present pastor,
appropriate services will be held
in conjunction with the county-wide observance of apple blossom
time.

Log Cabin Days
Among the first log cabins built by the settlers at New Paltz was the one which housed the church and school. It stood on a knoll a few hundred yards south of the present church building, facing the river and hills. The very first records, preserved to this day,
show that on January 22, 1683,
the Rev. Pierre Daille, formerly professor of theology at the Seminary of Samur, France, officiated
as minister.

No Cessation of Worship
There has been no cessation of worship since the founding of the church 250 years ago. Founded more than a century before the Republic itself was established, it has weathered the storms of war and the tumults of state. Throughout the years it has given sanctuary from the world, it has been a haven in time of stress, it has been a house of prayer, the abode
of the Spirit.

The boundary of the parish has widened beyond the confines of the local scenes until it has reached the island of Japan—for the last quarter century has seen the Reformed Dutch Church of New Paltz supporting two ministries,
one in the Huguenot village and the other one on the eastern island.

First Stone Church
In 1717 the first stone church
was built near the site of the cabin, in church school. This building soon proved inadequate and so in the year 1773 a larger stone edifice was erected almost on the site of the present building. This third building served its purpose

until 1839 when the nave of the present church was built. In 1871 the transepts were added
which gives the church of today a seating capacity of over a thousand people—one of the largest in the Reformed denomination in this territory.

The stately exterior of the present church, with its solid white pillars facing the east and the magnificent view of valley, stream,
and mountains afforded from the church lawn, make it ideally situated; the interior is graced with the rare dignity which comes from simplicity and careful blending of quiet colors, and the church in its entirety has aroused comments of admiration and appreciation from architects and savants of ecclesiastical architecture.

The congregation chose Louis
DuBois as its first elder, and Hugh Frere as the first deacon.
After the coming of the Rev. Barnet Freeman in 1753, the services were in French and conducted by French ministers. For a period of 50 years following this, the services were conducted in the Dutch language. So it is that the first records of the Reformed Dutch Church of New Paltz are written in French, the second group in Dutch, and the third records in English.

MODENA
Modena, Feb. 3 — On Sunday
"Family Sunday" will be observed
in the Modena Methodist Church
when the pastor, the Rev. Philip Solbjor requests families to attend and occupy pews together.

International Fellowship tea
will be served Wednesday afternoon, February 9, in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall, by the Rev. and Mrs. Philip Solbjor. This tea, and a similar one at Clinton-dale, is given in an effort to raise funds for the Million Unit Fellowship Movement. The local tea will be served at 2:30 o'clock.

The Modena Home Bureau unit
will conduct a meeting at Mrs.
Frank Black's, on Wednesday,
February 3. Projects of "Food Preservation," by Mrs. Wyrant Courtner, and "Understanding Others," Mrs. Frank Black, will be discussed and demonstrated.

Mr. and Mrs. Simeon DuBois entertained a number of guests
in celebration of Mrs. DuBois's birthday, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Seymour
were recent visitors in Kingston.
Mrs. Lester A. Wager and son,
Lester, visited relatives in Kingston Sunday.

Mrs. Anna Miller returned home

nurse at Hudson River State Hospital, has returned to her duties
after spending the week-end at her home here. Miss Paltridge completes her training at the Hudson

Man About
Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Not the least interesting sight in recent days was that homie who walked into an American Express office and required a bunch of travelers' checks.
"Certainly," said the attendant,
"sign these." He shoved the checks
through the cage.

At that moment the man came down and kicked off his shoes.
"Kindly throw that pencil on the floor," he requested. The dumb-founded teller did as he was bid-
den. Then the man, for he was armless, seized the pencil between his toes and dashed off a flourishing signature.

Now, asked the patron, "take my wallet from my coat." In this way the teller received his money.
There was a sum of small change
and the armless man put this in the toe of his shoes. He had, he said, been writing with his toes
for years. In summer he travels with a circus!

IT HAS been four years since
that dapper little man with the trim white mustaches and an open checkbook—a struggling artist,
composer, and authors died. One H. Kahn was always willing to back financially any worthwhile project in the field of art. Scores of times he gave encouragement to beginners, and it was his check
for $500 that saved the Theatre Guild, in its infancy, when it was about to go under.

THE national officers of the First and-Ten club are Jack Dempsey, Ted Friend, and Jim Tulley.
Their members are required to have an income of at least $10 a week
and they must have hobbled 5,000
miles at some time or other in their careers. Dempsey you know.
Tully you know also. Friend is a columnist for a morning tabloid.

This slavery is a member too. We work in our best suits hobnobbing
between Memphis, Tenn., and Camp
McClelland, Anniston, Ala., Chester, Va., and Hanover, N. H., between New York and New Orleans, La. Cover this route a couple of times and you easily achieve the desired 5,000 miles.

best pieces Henderson wrote. It newspaper editors will go through their files and forward pieces written by Henderson, the committee will be grateful. They may be ad-

SIMPLIFIED MOTOR FOR PLANES BUILT

Has One-Fourth the Parts of Ordinary Engine.

Mexico City.—Jose Borneo, retired motorcycle and automobile racer, has just obtained a Mexican patent for a simplified airplane motor.

All details of the new motor are kept secret for fear that somebody in a country where patents are not respected might steal the idea.

"I've had more than 30 years experience as a mechanic," Borneo said, "and I have a Pennsylvania diploma. For the last four years I've put in all my experience and earnings in developing a new type airplane motor. My first experiment was a failure. The second was not so good, and now I have the third, which has been patented."

Borneo was born in Monterrey, Mexico, of American parents. He has lived mostly in the United States, and has raced there, in Cuba and in Mexico. He is now back in Mexico City, interested in pushing his new project.

The motor sounds like a marine motor. Borneo said that it is simplicity itself, listing among its advantages the following:

"It can be manufactured as a Diesel motor, or as an ordinary motor. It has one-fourth of the number of parts of any other motor; with one spark plug it makes four explosions per revolution. It has no gears, no connecting rods, no valves, no crankshaft, and no gas-ket, and is therefore lighter than an ordinary motor. It has more torque than any other motor built."

"It is speedy, economical in original cost and upkeep. It can be made in series, with several motors right together. A motor can be cut on or off at will from the others in the series."

Borneo believes that eventually somebody will realize the potentialities of the motor, and that it will then be put into use.

European Beauties Spy Out Military Secrets

London.—Beautiful, alluring, modern Maia Hays today are being used to obtain the military secrets of Europe's armed powers.

Never before in the peacetime history of Europe have so many beautiful young women been known to be engaged in espionage.

German, French, Swiss, Polish, Italian and Russian girls are known to be operating.

The identity of some of these women is known to the British intelligence service; others are under suspicion, but most of them are merely known to exist, their identities remaining a mystery.

A case in point is Countess Wielopolska, beautiful Polish woman who now languishes in Moabit prison, Berlin, awaiting trial on charges of espionage against Germany.

Although the penalty for spying against Nazi Germany is death it is believed that the Polish countess will be exchanged for a valuable German agent now behind the bars in Warsaw.

Countess Wielopolska was arrested by the German secret police aboard the Warsaw-Berlin-Paris express just 15 minutes after the train pulled out of the Berlin station.

In a French military prison, attractive twenty-nine-year-old Elsa Turich, a German girl, is serving two years for attempting to induce French men and women to act as espionage agents.

Before being caught and convicted, she was a familiar figure at Vichy, one of France's most important military aviation centers.

Colorado's flower is the Rocky Mountain columbine. It was chosen by the people of the state because of its colors. The white represents the snowy ranges of the mountains, and the yellow, the gold that first attracted people to Colorado in 1858.

The mountain laurel was selected as the state flower of Connecticut because of the "beauty of its blossoms and foliage, the latter remaining a glossy green throughout the year, its sturdy and abundant growth in the state, and its general popularity." Pennsylvania also has the mountain laurel as her flower.

The delicate peach blossom symbolizes Delaware. It was chosen because of the supremacy of the state in peach-growing. When the trees are in bloom the avenues from the northern to the southern border of the state appear as if they were waves of white blossoms.

It costs $50,000 a day to feed the stomach the British army travels on. War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha revealed recently.

Golden Poppy, Columbine

Popular State Blossoms

In California, the golden poppy is cherished to represent the sunny state. There are many legends told about this satiny-petaled coral flower.

One of the tales, observes a writer in the Detroit News, goes back to days when the Indian tribes occupied California. It seems that there was a great cold wave which destroyed all the Indians except one brave and his squaw. Cold and hungry, they called upon the Great Spirit. He sent the "fire flower" or golden poppy in answer to their prayers. It drove away the evil spirit of the cold and frost, and brought warmth and plenty to the land.

Globe Trotter Travels

55,000 Miles in 10 Years

Lorain, Ohio.—Francis Toth, twenty-seven-year-old globe trotter, has returned to his native Lorain after a ten-year, 55,000-mile trek to all continents.

Toth, who began his adventure at the age of seventeen when he took passage from the United States on a fruit liner, spent five years as a soldier of fortune in the Far East, visited Tibet, India, toured Europe, touched Africa, Australia and South America in his wanderings.

Describing formidable Tibet, Toth said: "It is so unreal, so strange, so utterly remote and 'faraway' from anything I have ever seen that words have not yet been coined to describe what I felt as I looked on this forlorn, forgotten and unhappy land."

Before being caught and convicted, she was a familiar figure at Vichy, one of France's most important military aviation centers.

Radio Go Haywire?

"Heavily" Blamed

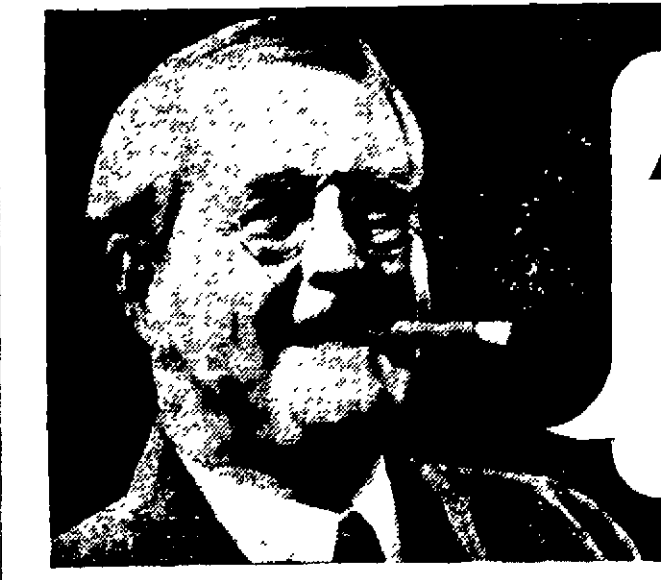

Stanford University, Calif.—The heaviest, a blanket of electrically charged atmosphere 50 to 100 miles above the earth, is responsible for some of the interference in radio reception, Professor Norris E. Bradbury told the American Physical Society.

Many of the radio waves which reach receiving sets, he said, travel upward from the broadcasting station to the heaviest and back again to earth. The atmosphere of the heaviest is so rare that no balloon could float in it. It is far above the stratosphere.

Car Thought to Have Been Taken By Convicts Found

The 1936 Dodge sedan belonging to John Dunlop, Ellenville insurance agent, which it was thought might have been stolen by two inmates of the Napanoch Institution for Male Delinquents, who made their escape from the prison about 6 o'clock Wednesday night, was recovered at Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., this forenoon. Mr. Dunlop received word about 10 o'clock this morning from the chief of police at Hasbrouck Heights that the car had been found there, abandoned. It was understood that the car was undamaged and that a rifle and shotgun, with ammunition, which were in the car, had not been taken.

The car was taken from where it had been temporarily parked alongside the Van Kleeck & Frost garage on North Main street, Ellenville, between 8:30 and 9:30 Wednesday night. Mr. Dunlop was in the garage at the time.

It is not certain that the escaped men took the car. Bloodhounds from the Woodbourne Prison were brought to Napanoch in an attempt to trail the fugitives. They followed their trails north from the institution for about 2 1/2 miles, to what was formerly the Harry Gordon farm, where the trail was lost. It is possible that the men doubled on their track as far as Ellenville, picked up the Dunlop car there and drove it down into New Jersey. The men are from New York city.

The missing men are inmates Osmundsen and Totten. The descriptions furnished the sheriff's office state that Osmundsen is five feet five inches in height, blond hair and weighs 140 pounds. Totten is five feet, eight inches, dark brown hair, reddish complexion, upper front tooth out, and weighs 165 pounds.

At the time of their escape both men wore prison gray uniforms, with caps.

OFFICE CAT
By Gladys Mon Dore

"City Slickers" perhaps you're worth a million, palace in your home, diamonds for the doorknobs; but uncontent, you roam.

City "sleek" to tempt you, he tells you of your charms, sings you songs of true love, then takes you in his arms.

Your Mother must have warned you, that when you're down and out, alone you stand, forsaken—no innocent, you'd had no doubt!

—Gladys Mon Dore.

It is a good plan to let other people talk occasionally. They like it too.

"I am glad that I am not a lawyer. They have to use such involved language. Now, when I mean like you, or me, gives an orange to another, all he says is: 'Here is an orange,' and the matter is ended. If a lawyer gives an orange, he says: 'Herewith I make over to you all interest, demands, and rights of this fruit, its peel, pulp, juice and pips. You have full authority to bite, cut, squeeze or press it, or give to it a further owner, with or without peel, juice, pulp, or pips.'"

Long-Suffering Wife (to her absent-minded doctor husband)—Why did you tear out the back part of that new book?

Famous Surgeon—Excuse me, dear. The part you speak of was labeled. "Appendix and I took it out without thinking."

Good women enjoy going to an expensive cafe so they can look at the man and woman at a table near-by and suspect the woman isn't the man's wife.

Harold—Some men thirst after fame, some after love, and some after money.

Jacob—I know something they all thirst after.

Harold—What's that?

Jacob—Salted peanuts.

Modern taxation has gotten to be a kind of strip-tease performance. The theory of the burlesque beauty show is to take off, without skinning the girl alive, the theory of present-day taxation is to strip the victim, little by little, as near the raw and bashful buff as possible. If this kind of thing keeps up the sensible and reasonable citizen of the future will be tempted to turn nudist and live in a tent. The earth's first inhabitants wore no clothes and paid no taxes. Maybe they had the right idea.

Wife—You chump! I wouldn't go through your pockets for a million dollars!

Husband—But, wifey dear, you just did go through them.

Wife—I know, but it was only for a five spot.

Read It Or Not

The stalwart man burst into the dentist's office and held forth as follows:

Nan—Now, look here, I've got no use for these new-fangled X-rays—gas and cocaine and painful extractions, and all that rubbish. The tooth's given a lot of trouble. All you need to do is to just yank it out—just yank it out, I say.

Dentist—Well, you're a plucky fellow. Just have a seat in the chair.

Nan—Oh! It isn't my tooth! It's the wife's. She's downstairs.

No wonder a hen cackles when she lays an egg. She's given to the world something that may turn out to be a son that never sets.

Jerry—Do you like short skirts, Mike?

Mike—No. They get lipstick on my shirt when I dance with them.

Appreciation!

Some murmur when the sky is clear

And wholly bright to view,

If one small speck of dark appears.

In their great heavens of blue;

And some with thankful love are filled

If but one streak of light,

One ray of God's great mercy, gild

The darkness of their night.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, aching, painful backaches people blame on cold or strain are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day of about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start aching backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Name Laura Is Traced to Fourteenth Century

The name Laura (Latin) is the feminine of Laurence. It therefore has the same meaning, "victorious." The laurel is the symbol of victory, the winners in ancient games being crowned with it. One authority gives Laura an additional Greek meaning, "cloistered."

The earliest Laura of whom we know is the who in the Fourteenth century inspired the lyrics of the great Italian poet, Petrarch. She is supposed to have been the wife of Hugo de Sade and the mother of eleven children. Petrarch worshipped her for years but never so much as touched her hand, observes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

To Laura I. Second (1775-1880) New England born Canadian patriot, two monuments have been erected, one at Lady's Lane and one at Queenston. She walked 20 miles through a forest on the rainy night of June 21, 1813, to warn the British that the Americans were going to attack. As a result, the battle of Lady's Lane was indecisive.

Laura D. Briggsman (1828-95) was to an earlier generation what Helen Keller is to this one—a blind deaf mute of amazing accomplishments. She taught them steadily suffered.

Laura Keane (1828-95), English actress of distinction, was being watched in "Our American Cousin" by President Lincoln when he was assassinated. Her true name was Mary Pegg.

Historical Group of Blossom Festival Discuss Pageant

The historical committee, named by Roger H. Loughran, chairman of the general committee to arrange for the Apple Blossom Festival to be held in Ulster county May 5, 6 and 7, met at the courthouse this morning. Judge C. D. B. Hasbrouck, chairman of the committee, presided. Others of the 15 members present were Joseph Deyo of Gardiner, William Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge, Lloyd R. LeFever of Kingston and William G. Nash of Lomontville.

A letter from the general chairman of the festival, read by Judge Hasbrouck, asked the committee to make plans and offer suggestions for historical features to be given in connection with the town days' event, which was characterized as "a splendid opportunity to put over one of the biggest events ever held in Ulster county."

In calling for suggestions as to what out in the celebration, Judge Hasbrouck spoke of the possibility of arranging for something in the nature of a historical pageant. It was suggested that the inauguration of Governor Clinton might be re-enacted, with participants wearing the dress of the period and attendants in appropriate uniforms.

Mr. Nash called attention to the fact that May 17 marked the 250th anniversary of the approval of the charter granted to the town of Kingston and the inauguration of the government under that charter, which remained in effect until 1816. Mr. Nash was named as a committee to see what could be done toward arranging a pageant, appropriately celebrating that event.

Mr. Deyo told of a visit to the blossom festival in the Shenandoah valley. He said that the occasion was marked by the floats, and various attractive features, but that very largely people took occasion to spend a pleasant weekend and meet friends and see the beauties of the Shenandoah valley at the time of the year.

During the general discussion attention was called to the fact that Ulster county was the home of the delicious Jonathan apple and also that another fine apple, not so common today, was the Esopus Spitzenberg.

Mr. Hasbrouck brought out that apple blossoms are apt to be in their prime on different dates in Ulster county—first the apples in the Hudson river section, then those in the Wallkill valley section and last those in the Rondout valley. He also referred to the fact that the time at which blossoms will be at their best depends a good deal upon the weather and was inclined to think that the date for the festival might with more safety be set a week later.

Comment was made that the date had already been fixed upon, the Farm Bureau experts having found that in average years the

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

Why Men Leave Home
St. Louis—It was a man's voice on the telephone pleading with Deputy Sheriff Charles Coleworth, "Won't you please come out here and change the baby?" "Sorry, but the baby department is closed," said Coleworth. "Then I'd like to have you for a witness in a divorce suit I'm going to file," the voice said.

Alviso, Calif.—Anxious neighbors entered the rain-flooded home of Mrs. Ah Quong, 90, fearfully searched for her.

San Quentin, Calif.—Manuel Madeiros, 55, was safe in San Quentin prison today, and glad of it.

An automobile in which deputies were taking him to prison to serve a 1-to-10 year term for attempted assault, skidded and overturned. Madeiros, the only occupant escaping injury, begged of highway patrolmen:
"Get me out of here. Get me to San Quentin—I want to be safe."

Reardon and Hess Honored Today

came students of police procedure, methods of dealing with crime and other phases of police work which brought them to a high state of efficiency. Each officer applied himself conscientiously to his work. Both made thousands of arrests for violations of the law, many of the arrests being of the utmost importance to the peace, safety and welfare of the citizens of this city. They were both known as strict disciplinarians on their posts of duty. To my mind they represented the kind of an officer a time like this demands.

"Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands."

Men who the best of officers does not kill.

Men who the spoils of office cannot buy.

Men who have opinions and a will.

Men who have honor and will not lie.

Men who can stand before a demand and scorn his teacher's accusations without winking.

Tell men, who live above the fog in public duty and in private thinking.

Officer Reardon and Officer Hess, I congratulate you upon your 25th anniversary as a member of the police department and upon the excellent police services you have so long rendered the City of Kingston. I trust that your future service will bring you continued success and commendation, all of which you richly deserve.

Schwank Pays Tribute

Mayor C. J. Helselman is confined to his home with a heavy cold and on his physician's advice is confined to his bed, and so was not able to attend the dinner today. In his stead the greetings of the city were brought by Acting Mayor John J. Schwank, president of the Common Council, who said that Mayor Helselman had expressed himself to him as being highly pleased with the long and efficient service that had been rendered by Officers Reardon and Hess, and had asked him to make that statement in his behalf today.

President Schwank said that Officers Reardon and Hess were fine examples for their fellow officers and that their excellent work as patrolmen during the past quarter century had helped to make the police department one of the most efficient in the state.

In closing he said that he was sure that former Mayor Roscoe Irwin, who was serving the city as mayor at the time the two honor guests were appointed members of the department, was proud of the fine record both men had made in the line of duty.

District Attorney Speaks

District Attorney Cleon B. Murray the last speaker paid a high tribute to Chief Wood. He said that the chief had proven a great chief and had met the rising problems of the police department in the manner in which they should be met. He has passed through 15 different administrations, said Mr. Murray, and that is a record in itself, and he said he knew he expressed the hope of all present in the wish that Chief Wood would still continue to head the department for many years to come.

The police of Kingston, he said, had stood for the maintenance of law enforcement in Kingston. He said that his office had had the efficient cooperation of the Kingston police department from Chief Wood down. As a result of the work accomplished by the police department, he said that Kingston was one of the cleanest cities in the state.

Touching on cooperation the district attorney called attention to two cases as an example of what he meant. He said that one night not so long ago Lieutenant James V. Simpson had occasion to call him on the telephone at his home in Ellenville and relate the incident of a crime that had been committed outside of Kingston.

The district attorney said he had called on the lieutenant for aid in the case and the lieutenant and other members of the Kingston police department had gone out and gathered the evidence that had resulted in the one arrested now serving sentence.

Another incident was in an arson case that occurred outside of Kingston in which he had sought the assistance of Lieutenant Charles Phinney and the lieutenant had responded and had been of such assistance that the man sought had been arrested, convicted and was now serving a term in prison.

District Attorney Murray said that it should not be forgotten that a policeman faced danger every day of his life. When the officer went on duty either day or night he did not know what the future held in store for him.

What would the city do without its police force? asked the district attorney.

Calling attention to the increasing problem of handling traffic the district attorney said that there was not another city in the state where traffic was handled so courteously as in Kingston, and where the police were more willing to aid and assist an out of town motorist and put him on the right road when passing through the city.

That the policeman daily faced danger, he said, was shown by the tragic death several years ago of Officer James Lawrence, who many present would recall as an efficient member of the department. In the line of duty Officer Lawrence had gone out and arrested a man named Bird on a charge of public intoxication. While escorting his prisoner up the hill leading to the city hall Bird had suddenly drawn a knife and fatally stabbed the officer, who died of his wound later.

As for Bird, he paid for his deed in the electric chair.

In closing the district attorney said that he had known both Officer Reardon and Officer Hess before they had become members of the police department. Then they were respected citizens of the city and today they were respected citizens, and good and efficient officers.

They have helped make Kingston a better place in which to live, he said, and the Kiwanis Club was honoring itself in honoring the two officers.

Presented Rings

President Keresman in behalf of the Kingston Patrolman's Association then presented Officers Reardon and Hess with the silver rings.

Officers Thank Donors

In responding Officer Reardon said it was a great pleasure for him to be present at the dinner and that he was given an opportunity of thanking his fellow officers for the gift they had made.

"I will always cherish this ring," he said, "for it is a symbol of many happy and enjoyable years in the association of my fellow officers."

"I have enjoyed myself for the past quarter century," said Officer Hess, "in the friends I have made not only among the members of the police department but the city at large. You will find no finer body of men anywhere than the Kingston police department, and I wish to express to them my sincere thanks for the honor they have conferred on me and the gift they have made this day."

The Committee

The committee from the Patrolman's Association who had arranged the program for the day were Lieutenant James V. Simpson, President Peter Keresman, and Officers Edward J. Leonard, William T. Rodell and Joseph Fallon.

Former Mayor Irwin had expected to be present today and make the presentation, but had been unavoidably detained.

"Banana Rat" Is Not Yet Classified by Science

Portland, Ore.—Did you ever see a "banana rat"?

That question floated around the produce depots here after a strange animal, somewhat resembling a rat, leaped from a banana crate and attacked a worker.

The man was unhurt, but the animal was captured. Though having the general build of a rodent, the animal had long ears, teeth completely foreign to the rat family, and a tail by which it could—and would—hang from a suspended beam. It ate only bananas. Science has not classified it definitely.

Miss Kelder Able To Make Will

a will and knowing its contents. He said he believed she knew whom she had wanted her property to go.

The codicil to the will signed June 30, 1937, was witnessed by Miss Davis and N. LeVan Haver.

Just before the close of the afternoon session Mr. Haver was sworn but court recessed before his testimony was taken.

Andrew J. Cook appears with Francis T. Murray of counsel for Mrs. Margaret Scheffel and Gerard Kelder. N. LeVan Haver appears for the Rev. Dr. F. B. Seeley, executor of the will and proponent. Chris J. Flanagan appears for John Kelder and Robert H. Boyle for Washington Kelder, the two contestants. George and Thomas Nahar appear for Henry Kelder, a nephew of deceased.

It is claimed by contestants that there was undue influence used and that at the time of the making of the will Miss Kelder was not capable of disposing of her property. By the will all of the living brothers and sisters were named in the will but one brother, John Kelder, was not mentioned. By the codicil several friends benefited, among the beneficiaries were Mr. Haver, Dr. Seeley and the Fair Street Reformed Church.

New Road Cause of Heavy Damage to Rhodes Parce

Testimony before the Highland commission yesterday, both appraisers for the claimant and the county, seemed to agree that the Rhodes property had been seriously damaged when the new alignment of 5-W at Highland. The property borders 5-W and White street and the monument formerly stood on the southeast corner of the lot. The house, built in 1895, is said to have been one of the finest houses in Highland at that time—two and a half stories high, with electric light and hot water heat and "built as good as any house can be built," according to Walter Hasbrouck, appraiser for claimant. The new alignment runs so close to the house that it was necessary to remove a bay window and outside cellar. A two-story barn, with slate roof and lighted by electricity, and a garage, have been removed.

Walter Hasbrouck for the claimant put a value on the property before the taking of $18,000, and said it was worth $3,000 now, while C. Schultz said it was worth $17,500 before taking and $3,500 afterward. For the county, Frank S. Hyatt gave valuations of $9,000 before taking and $4,500 after; Albert N. Cook's figures were $9,500 before and $5,000 after taking.

"Pipe Night" at Roudout Lodge

An innovation known as "Pipe Night" will be staged at the regular communication on Monday evening in Roudout Lodge, No. 513, E. & A. M. The lodge will also confer the entered apprentice degree on a class of candidates. The entertainment committee has arranged for an interesting speaker, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance of members. Just what the program committee means by "Pipe Night" is not known to members of the lodge, but they have been urged to bring their favorite pipe with them.

"Mother Goose" Rhymes Traced to a Frenchman

There was a Mother Goose who lived in Boston two centuries ago, but she was not the first to give this name to nursery rhymes. The name came from the French in an indirect way, states a writer in the Detroit News, and is as follows:

A famous French author of fairy tales, Charles Perrault, published in 1697 a collection of these tales including the well known "Red Riding Hood." On the frontispiece was pictured an old woman spinning and telling these stories, and on a placard nearby was a French inscription meaning "Tales of My Mother Goose." Why he chose this name is not certain, but there was a kindly person in French legend, Queen Goosefoot, who was noted for her incredible stories and for her friendliness to children.

A Boston publisher, Thomas Fleet, son-in-law of Mrs. Elizabeth Goose, published in 1719 a collection of nursery rhymes and jingles which he called "Songs for the Nursery, or Mother Goose's Melodies for Children." This was 'st ten years after Perrault's book, and the name was evidently derived from it. It was given as a collection of old jingles that Fleet's mother-in-law, Mother Goose, was in the habit of singing to his oldest child. She did not claim to have composed any of them. In 1780 John Newberry in London published a similar book of Mother Goose's Melodies.

Indian Archers

The Indian archer carried his arrows in a quiver usually made of skin, but sometimes of tough bark; this was slung at his back or side, and was large enough to hold from ten to twenty arrows. The feathers used for making the vanes on the shafts were taken from the wings of wild geese, turkeys, eagles, vultures and herons, for which reason these birds were much sought after. Boys from infancy were taught the use of weapons, but their arrows were pointed with heavy wood instead of steel or bone. They were able to kill small birds, and in the clear water of shallow streams they waded and shot fish, of which they were very fond, often eating them raw.

Anglicize Names of Cities

One of the interesting by-products of travel, according to an authority, is the realization that the names by which we know European cities are, in most cases, Anglicized versions of the names by which they were christened. True, no geography book is needed to help one ferret out the identity of Roma with Rome, Milano with Milan and Genova with Genoa; but not all Americans know that home-town residents call Florence not Florence but Firenze; Venice, Venezia; and Leghorn, Livorno. Nor is it so easy to spot at a glance such cities as Wien, Anvers and Köln—known in this country as Vienna, Antwerp and Cologne—unless you've actually been there.

Persons Who Are Born Deaf

Persons who are born deaf grow up to be known as "deaf-mutes" not because their vocal organs are impaired, but because their deafness has prevented them from hearing the sounds of their native language. Records show that about 8 per cent of the persons born deaf have had deaf parents, grandparents or great-grandparents, notes a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer. Deafness is sometimes started in families by the intermarriage of close relatives. If both parents are deaf, heredity statistics indicate that one out of every four children resulting from the marriage will also prove to be deaf.

Dorsey Pleads Not Guilty

February 4. Ball was fixed at $10 which was furnished by Dorsey. From the story as gathered at police headquarters following the arraignment of Dorsey in police court the first alarm was sent out over the police radio at 2:30 o'clock warning all officers to watch out for a car in which a man and a woman was driving and that the man who was at the wheel was apparently intoxicated. Placed Under Arrest.

It was about 3:45 o'clock while Officers Borphy and Kinch were on the way home after a night of duty that they saw the car. Officer Borphy placed Dorsey, who he said was driving, under arrest. Word of the arrest was sent to police headquarters and Officers Harry Martin and Roedel in one of the radio cars drove to Main street.

When the radio car which Roedel was driving arrived they found Dorsey standing out on the pavement alongside of the two officers. He was invited to enter the police car and then, according to the police, the rumpus started. Officers Kinch, Borphy and Martin were having a time to induce Dorsey to enter the car and then Officer Roedel jumped out of the radio car and assisted. As a result Dorsey was lodged in the car in the back seat with Roedel sitting alongside him, while the woman was placed in the front seat.

At police headquarters it was seen that Dorsey was bleeding slightly from a cut in the head and he was taken over to the Kingston Hospital by Officers Roedel and Harry Martin. He refused medical treatment and was brought back to the city hall. On the way, according to the police, Dorsey again put up a battle and broke away from the officers. Dorsey it is said took off his overcoat and swatted Roedel in the face with it. He also used his feet, kicking Roedel in the groin. Dorsey was subdued by the police and again placed in the police car and taken to the county jail where he was held until brought down to the city hall for arraignment.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Markets Were Quiet Wednesday

Stocks opened firm Wednesday morning, but then eased off, unable apparently to continue the upward trend that marked the first two days of the week. The industrials closed the day off 0.31 point, to 123.96 on the Dow-Jones averages; rails declined 0.39, to 27.97; utilities lost 0.37, to 19.16. Bonds were irregular.

Foreign markets were quiet. Wheat managed to close steady corn was easier, with limited export demand for grains. The balance sheets of 32 corporations, covering various fields of industry, reporting for year-ends varying from October 31 to December 31, show aggregate inventories of $85,000,000 more than a year ago. The most general increase is shown by machinery makers. Since these reports were made stocks undoubtedly have been reduced to a considerable extent.

National Lead shows earnings for year ended December 31 equal to 94 cents a share, compared with $1.71 a share the previous year; Republic Steel (preliminary report), $1.14 on shares outstanding compared with $1.04. Domestic sales of National Cash Register in 1932 were 7.3 per cent ahead of the preceding year, but orders in January were $1,937,950 compared with $3,356,525 in January last year.

With decrease in raw materials cost and holding of price levels, the bread baking industry is expected to show a better rate of earnings the first quarter of this year, compared with the same quarter in 1932. Department store sales in New York and Brooklyn declined 3.1 per cent in week ended January 29, Federal Reserve Bank reports. Sales last week were off 10.2 per cent from a year ago. Both labor and industry in the Pittsburgh district are reported to be taking considerable interest in discussions of the proposition of an "annual wage" for workers.

Vredenburg and Groene. He was brought to the Ulster county jail, where he was held pending arraignment before Police Justice Charles F. Kalsner, Jr., in Ellenville. Shavell is a hair dresser by profession.

Trial by jury was originated by the Normans.

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—Stock market leaders topped 1 to more than 5 points in today's market.

Occasional attempts were made at rallies, but these generally failed to follow through and losers were not far above lowest levels near the final hour.

While volume was much larger than yesterday, the ticker tape was seldom pressed and slow intervals were frequent. Transfers were at the rate of about 1,200,000 shares.

Further weakness of American Telephone unsettled sentiment in the early proceedings. This issue was about 12 minutes late in opening because of wide gaps between bids and offers. Its initial appearance was on a block of 1,500 shares, off 2½ at a new low since 1935. It eventually was down more than 7 before receiving some support.

Listed American Telephone bonds, contrarily, were up a shade. Other bonds were uneven, along with major commodities. Rails and utilities were a bit more resistant than other groups.

American Music
Discussed at Club

Last evening the Kingston Musical Society held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. John L. MacKinnon on Main avenue. After a short business session, the topic for the evening, "The Rise of American Music," was interestingly presented by Mrs. A. Noble Graham, with a program illustrative of the subject in charge of Mrs. Henry Miller, Jr.

Beginning with the statement that "Music is no longer thought of as something which some queer people use to make a living," Mrs. Graham went on to describe the music of America during its 150 years. She divided it into three periods: the first 180 years, when America was almost barren of music; the formation of the nation and the rise of Lowell Mason, Stephen Foster and others, continuing the period up to the present.

Folk Songs First

The first music in America was the folk songs. Indian folk songs were characterized by the accented rhythm, the drum, and the special purposes for which it was used, such as war, religion, mystery, mourning and festivity. Negro folk tunes were religious and emotional, with the banjo supplementing the use of the drum. Songs of the hill folks were sung without accent and were characteristic of the isolation and hard work of the people.

The first 150 years after the landing of the pilgrims when "no fashion was used solely because it was new" is considered vain and unworthy, the addition of 12 new tunes to the psalm book, the subsequent installation of the first organ and the completion of the first singing book were discussed.

Steps of Progress

Mrs. Graham then described the steps of progress along musical lines after music was permitted in the church, mentioning the first choir, the work of William Billings, who introduced the use of the pitch pipe, organized the first singing society and brought the violin-cello into the church service. Dudley Buck, who introduced the cantata and presented the first band concert, and Lowell Mason, who knew the needs and requirements of America and had no patience with lingering along the same lines. It was he who organized the musical society in Massachusetts, the Handel and Haydn society, which is one of the leading musical societies in the country today.

Other steps were the growth of the orchestra, which had more difficulty in starting than vocal music, the introduction in Philadelphia of a Musical Fund Society to finance struggling professors and give them time to teach and compose, the formation of the Boston Conservatory of Music, the difficult struggle of Chamber music, and the first operatic performances in New York city and New Orleans. Of the composers in America, Mac Dowell was the first to win acclaim by all the critics of Europe.

The last 10 years of music in America have been revolutionary with jazz a very distinctive thing and the saxophone the privileged instrument. Since the World War, America has been turning to her own shores for inspiration and depending less upon the modes of other countries.

To illustrate American composers, Mrs. Miller had arranged the following program. Many of the composers represented were personally known by those who gave their works and the group was given a more intimate insight into the lives of the contemporary composers. Mrs. Florence Cumberley and Mrs. Miller opened the program with two movements from the "Sonata" by John Alden Carpenter, written for violin and piano.

Other Numbers Heard

Other numbers were "Let All My Life Be Music," by Charles Gilbert Spross, and "The Holiday" by Pearl Curran, sung by Mrs. Clarence Wolfenstein, accompanied by Mrs. Walter T. Tremper.

The card game of rummy is said to have originated in Texas.

The Hawthorn and Christ. The hawthorn is affiliated with the crucifixion of Christ. A robin is supposed to have pulled a thorn from Christ's brow and the blood splashed upon the breast of the robin. The holly was supposed by some to have been the wreath of torture worn by Christ. One of the saints is supposed to have wiped the blood sweat from the brow of Christ and veronica plants to this day show a faint human imprint. The cyclamen was symbolized by the Virgin Mary as blood drops. The Star of Bethlehem were supposed to have originated from the meteor which burst across the land at the birth of Christ. The mottled marks of the foxglove and cowslip are supposed to have been placed there by elves.

A do-nothing policy is better than a policy of doing things which should not be done.

MARKLE-OSTERHOUDT MATTER ON TRIAL

A civil matter between Fred Markle and Charles Osterhoudt was brought on for trial before Justice of the Peace Roger H. Loughran of the town of Hurley last Wednesday. The matter arose out of a partnership agreement entered into between the two men over the operation of a refreshment stand. Mr. Markle alleged that there was a sum due him for a loan made to Mr. Osterhoudt. He alleged that at no time did Mr. Osterhoudt put money in the business and claimed that he, Markle, has furnished the capital.
In June, 1937, due to ill health of Mr. Osterhoudt, it was alleged by Markle that he agreed to operate the beer garden for a sum. He claimed that when the season closed he did not get the money which was due him under the agreement. After the matter had been heard before Judge Loughran he directed a verdict for Markle for the sum claimed.

Here is a frock that can go to dinner at eight and to dance at eleven. Lucien Lelong designs it with a full skirt, a halter bodice and a detachable bolero which can be removed for dancing.

Those Honking Horns.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 3 (AP).—A law to prevent the man next door from impatiently honking his automobile horn while waiting at the curb was proposed today in New York's legislature. The measure, sponsored by Senator Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican, would prohibit use of an automobile horn while the vehicle is stationary. The bill also would require approval of the horn by the motor vehicle commissioner.
